Shubhika Tayade is an associate in Newmeyer Dillion's Walnut Creek office, where her practice includes business litigation and transactional matters. She is admitted to practice law in California.

Before joining Newmeyer Dillion, Shubhika represented clients in general liability matters through all phases of litigation and dispute resolution. Her work encompassed claim investigation, discovery, depositions, motion practice, mediation, and resolution, with a focus on developing practical strategies tailored to each client's objectives. Earlier in her career, she held compliance roles at global financial institutions, advising on legal and regulatory risks in U.S. and European markets.

Shubhika's experience in the United States, the United Kingdom, and India brings an international and business-focused perspective to her practice. Her work at the intersection of law, finance, and regulatory compliance across distinct legal systems enables her to develop effective strategies that align legal considerations with business objectives. She takes a collaborative, solutions-oriented approach to client service, helping clients navigate complex issues and achieve practical results.
